In a very short space of time, Di responded with terms which enabled us to proceed with the knowledge that basic insurance covers were in place.

With nearly three decades of experience in the insurance industry, Di has developed a strong understanding of what businesses need when it comes to commercial insurance. Beginning her career in 1995 and working across both claims and broking, has given Di a well-rounded perspective that she brings to every client conversation.

Since joining Rothbury in 2010, Di's focus has been on providing clear, practical, and tailored advice that genuinely makes sense. Combining strong technical knowledge with a solid understanding of the local market, helping clients navigate risk with confidence. Di takes pride in building long-term relationships based on trust, clarity, and good outcomes.

Whether reviewing risk exposures, assisting with claims, or simply being available when advice is needed most, Di's goal is to make insurance feel straightforward and manageable. Above all, her clients feel supported, informed, and well looked after.
